Actively Caring for People's Safety: How to Cultivate and Sustain a Brother's/Sister's Keeper Work Culture

This presentation will explain the fundamental AC4P principles from psychological science essential for successfully addressing the human dynamics of occupational safety and health. Incorporating these AC4P principles will enhance effectiveness and enable the achievement of a "brother's/sister's keeper" work culture. The See, Thank, Enter, Pass (STEP) method asks participants to look for AC4P behavior that supports safety (See). Thank the person for the safety-related act, give an AC4P wristband with a unique identification number, report the positive exchange at www.ac4p.org (Enter), including the wristband number. Ask to Pass on to thank another person. With this AC4P process, observations of safety-related behaviors are spread to facilitate the promotion of an AC4P culture.

Lunch Keynote Speaker

Dr. John Howard, MD, MPH, JD, LLM, MBA, Director, National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

"Cannabinoids and the Workplace."

Dr. Howard will speak about solutions to help workers and employers facing this in their communities, and the specific steps NIOSH is taking to approach this challenge. Dr. Howard was reappointed to this third term as NIOSH Director in 2015. He served as Chief of the Division of Occupational Safety and Health in the State of California (Cal/OSHA) from 1991 through 2002.

Closing Keynote Speaker

Monica Zech

The Real-Life Dangers of Texting and Driving!

Monica's passion is "driving" safety. Since 1984 she's been speaking on behalf of all those injured and killed in preventable collisions. Driving Safety Becomes Her Passion: Almost from the start of her traffic reporting career, Monica began delivering lectures on driving safety throughout San Diego, Los Angeles, and Riverside Counties, and in 2010 her talks became national when she was invited to speak to a high school in Miami, Florida. Later came requests to speak in Lyndhurst, New Jersey, Petree, Wyoming, and Grand Ronde, Oregon. Recognized for her dedication to safety, Monica has received numerous news, safety and community service awards. (See her awards section) Although Monica enjoyed her work as a reporter, she most enjoyed her research and lectures in the community on transportation safety. Her goal is to reduce the injury and death on our roadways.
